A rainbow is a meteorological phenomenon that is caused by reflection, refraction and dispersion of light in water droplets resulting in a spectrum of light appearing in the sky. It takes the form of a multicoloured circular arc. Rainbows caused by sunlight always appear in the section of sky directly opposite the sun. Rainbows can be full circles.

What color is sunshine? When we see the light of the Sun streaming through the windows, it appears colorless. Even though we can't see it, this "white" light is actually made up of many different colors of light. Each of these colors has a different wavelength. In 1666, the famous scientist Isaac Newton discovered that if sunlight passed through a triangular piece of glass called a prism, the ...
